

June Issue!

Editor's Welcome

Welcome to the latest issue of "General Intel" - Armchair General® magazine's online newsletter! If you are receiving this, it's because you are a fan of Military History and gaming. Here are the latest highlights from www.armchairgeneral.com.

What's New on Armchair General

Summer Campaign 2007 Military History Tournament
We know there aren't many of these out there!

Armchair General is once again featuring 32 generals/leaders in head-to-head competition to see which of this batch will be crowned supreme. The lineup this round varies immensely, with such names as Houston, Manstein, Dayan, Ieyasu, Wellington, Moltke, and many others rounding out the field. Drop by and cast your vote. Everyone who participates in all rounds will get a ribbon for their forum profile! Check it out!

Sneak Peak at the September 2007 Issue

This issue will feature a story on General Slim and his Burma Campaign during World War 2. Bevin Alexander pops in for a piece on Rommel. There are a couple selections covering the difficult tasks of training a client army and counter-insurgency. We will be going Scud Busting in Iraq, surfing at Inchon, and sneaking around in Damascus. Learn more about this issue when it hits the streets (and the website) in late July!

Armchair General goes to Origins Game Convention

For anyone looking for some quality gaming in early July, check out Origins in Columbus, OH July 5-8. Armchair General will be sending a team to Origins as part of our support for the Origins War College seminar series. Our very own Carlo D'Este will be giving a talk, as will David Glantz, Charles Sharp, Les Grau, Frank Chadwick, Dana Lombardy, and many others. When the War College is out of session, the ACG team will be at the tables playing wargames, boardgames, Euro-games, and just about any other game they can fit in the door. Learn more about the War College here (Origins Website). Discuss with us here.

Armchair General Game News

Here is the latest from the ACG portfolio; Check out our previews of Vampire Rain and Blacksite: Area 51. We've had many reviews, including Ghost Rider, Jena-Auerstaedt, Sid Meier's Pirates, and Theatre of War, along with Shifting Sands for the boardgame side. Our most recent interview was for Histwar: Les Groggnards.

Armchair Military History

Here are the latest articles in our military history department. Carlo D' Este examines the two days of Memorial Day and D-Day in modern times with Two Days to Remember. We have an article by Wild Bill Wilder titled Deja Vu The Desert Rats exploring the famous division fighting in 1991. We have a movie overview (Films of the Cold War), book reviews (Words of War, FDR's Twelve Apostles) and of course our regular features such as Jim Moreno's WebOps (an overview of all things Military History on the web) and The Incorrect Art of War (Dr. Sinister's attempts to understand military history's lessons).

Origins 2006 Revisited

In a past issue we revisited GenCon 2006, so this may seem a bit redundant. However, with Origins coming up in a week or so, we feel this is a good teaser to get everyone in the mood to hop a plane or drive cross country to check out this excellent show. ACG was there in 2006, and we'll see you there in 2007!
